

Eric Kopp Invited to Speak at Boston Shoulder and Sports Symposium

Boston, MA

ProEx, a physical therapist owned private practice specializing in orthopedics, spine and sports medicine announces that Director of Clinical Education Eric Kopp has been invited as a guest speaker at the prestigious Boston Shoulder & Sports Symposium, to be held October 29-30 at the Waltham Woods Conference Center in Waltham, MA.

The Boston Shoulder & Sports Symposium, sponsored by New England Baptist Hospital is a didactic and hands-on bioskills program updating state-of-the-art techniques in sports related shoulder and knee surgery and rehabilitation.

A co-owner of ProEx and the practice's Director of Clinical Education, Kopp will be among an estimated 25 presenters at the annual symposium, which this year celebrates its 15th anniversary this year. He will deliver two presentations to hundreds of physicians and healthcare providers on; "Exercise for Pain Treatment: The Biopsychosocial Model" and "Shoulder Pain: Ruling out Cervical Pathology."

Kopp, whose practice in orthopedics and sports medicine spans 13 years, is a Full Fellow of the American Academy of Orthopaedic Manual Physical Therapists. He has been an active educator in the continuing education field for the last 7 years.

"I am excited and honored to speak at such a prestigious symposium," said Kopp. "This is a wonderful opportunity to give voice to the ProEx clinical approach and theory on two such important topics."
